

VETERINARY MEDICAL LIBRARY

December 2021 Library Newsletter

FROM THE LIBRARY DESK

This holiday season is proving to be a busy one around the library! We have quite a few projects going on, including setting up our new books and journals display. Over the holiday season, you will see staff begin carting books from our stacks into offices as we start our large collections project. This will be ongoing throughout the 2022 calendar year. Our holiday decorations will be up by December so stop on by to take pictures in front of our K-State tree!

FINALS SNACKS BAR

The week before, and during, finals week, the library offers an assortment of goodies for our veterinary students at the coffee/tea bar. We have an assortment of jellies, fruit preserves, and jams; Nutella, various nut butters, and butter; as well as bread for toast or sandwiches, chips, granola, oatmeal, and other snack items throughout the day. Don't forget to treat yourself during these weeks and fuel your studying!

NEW TITLES

AJVR

Sept. 2021 | Vol.92 No.9
October 2021 | Vol.82 No.10

ALL ANIMALS

America's Tiger Problem
Fall 2021

AWI QUARTERLY

Fall 2021 | Vol.70 No.3

THE BOVINE PRACTITIONER

Vol.55 No.1

CLINICAL THERIOGENOLOGY

Sept. 2021 | Vol.13 No.3

EQUINE DISEASE QUARTERLY

October 2021 | Vol.30 No.4

GOOD MEDICINE

Autumn 2021 | Vol.30 No.4

JOURNAL OF IMMUNOLOGY

1 Oct. 2021 | Vol.207 No.7

15 Oct. 2021 | Vol.207 No.8

JOURNAL OF SWINE HEALTH & PRODUCTION

Vol. 29 No.5

WORLD FOOD REGULATION REVIEW

Vol.31 No.4

Email: vetlib@vet.k-state.edu | Phone: 785.532.6006

STUDENT EMPLOYEE SHOWCASE

Meet Lindsey Decker! Lindsey has been a student employee of the Veterinary Medical Library since 2019. In her years here, Lindsey excelled substantially in learning the meticulousness of the library, providing quality services to our veterinary patronage, and brings a smile with her every day. Her specialty in the library is her exemplary circulations and reference skills.

Lindsey is prompt in completing projects and completes them with confidence and care. She has an extensive knowledge of various sides of the library, ranging from circulation, to reference, and to bibliographic maintenance. This versatility has allowed her the chance to build her skills significantly in multiple sides of maintaining the library. Additionally, these skills have allowed her the chance to navigate and problem solve any issue that arises, and seek assistance from a staff member as necessary.

Lindsey is an Animal Sciences and Industries major with an Animal Products option. In addition, she is receiving an undergraduate certification in both Leadership Studies and Meat Science. She is expected to graduate in 2022.

Email: vetlib@vet.k-state.edu | Phone: 785.532.6006